- Plan for future trainings in Syria (AMA, CLS, PM).
- Translations to be sent when completed by Said Abdella (SA, PM).

CONCLUSION

I have yet to train a more enthusiastic group. The response and dedication was excellent. A huge demand for this type of course, established from discussions with various heads of departments. This needs to be followed up.

It was disappointing that potential partners were not invited, as there seems to be a great potential for them to be involved. Fortunately the Syrian ASP head was on this course.

The training was opened by Dr Jamal Hajjar (second from right), Director of Crop Protection. Also present were Elias Salhani, CropLife Syria; Nicola Ghabban, Head, Plant Protection; Yaakoub Al Maher, Director of Training and Qualifications Directorate; Ali Mohamed Ali, CropLife Africa Middle East.

Facilitator, Peter Mills discusses the results of a group exercise.

All participants are filmed during their "Performance" exercise. The video gives individuals feedback on their verbal and non-verbal skills performances.

Fourteen trainers from various sectors within the Ministry of Agriculture attended the Train-the-Trainer course in Damascus, Syria.
